

ABSTRACT

Disclosed herein are methods for selecting racehorse candidates. The disclosed methods may be used to increase the likelihood of selecting candidates that will be high earners, while reducing the likelihood of selecting candidates that will be low earners on the basis of certain cardiac measurements.